

12th ASLI CONFERENCE

Law 2.0: New Challenges in Asia

National Taiwan University, Taipei, Taiwan
21 & 22 May 2015, Thursday & Friday

Introduction

We are pleased to announce that the Asian Law Institute (ASLI) and National Taiwan University (NTU) will hold the 12th ASLI Conference in Taipei, Taiwan on 21 and 22 May 2015. We look forward to welcoming you, and value your contribution to the ongoing success of this annual conference.

The 12th ASLI Conference 2015

It gives us great pleasure to announce the Call for Papers for the 12th ASLI Conference which will be held at the College of Law, National Taiwan University, Taipei from 21-22 May 2015. The theme for the conference is Law 2.0: New Challenges in Asia.

With this theme, we intend to encourage submission of papers on new issues, and on new thoughts, methods or theories regarding traditional legal issues. Asia has been changing dramatically and rapidly, posing numerous new challenges for the legal community. Even with regard to old issues, we are often required to think creatively in order to find novel solutions. Along this line, we particularly welcome any provocative papers on new ideas, new approaches, new theories or new issues. We hope to promote a wide range of innovative discussion among conference participants.

At the 12th ASLI Conference, we hope to see papers on subjects that have not been well-discussed at our past conferences.

ASLI has entered into its second decade. It is about time to look beyond the past successes and think about our next step. We also want to encourage robust discussions on cooperation among us in order to bring ASLI to a second and more successful stage. Any paper or panel devoted to this aim is very welcome.

We encourage you to be thought provoking, be creative, and be challenging with this theme. That is what we expect from all of you at the 2015 ASLI conference in Taipei.

I look forward to welcoming you to the College of Law, National Taiwan University in May 2015.

Please visit our conference web site at http://law.nus.edu.sg/asli/12th_asli_conf/index.html for selection criteria, guidelines for abstract or paper submissions and other related conference information.

Yours sincerely

Professor Ming-Yan Shieh
Dean, College of Law
National Taiwan University

Professor Andrew James Harding
Director
Asian Law Institute
Faculty of Law, National University of Singapore

Submissions of Abstracts

Click here for online submission of Abstracts

The website, which will be updated periodically with the latest information on tentative panel sessions and programme schedule, also contains information on recommended conference hotels.

We regret that no subsidies are available for expenditures such as air flights, hotel charges and conference fees. A detailed and finalized programme (speaker panels, etc.) will be made available to all registered participants nearer the date of the conference.

We would very much appreciate your help in bringing this conference to the attention of your faculty/law school colleagues, as well as to anyone whom you think might be interested in attending, whether as a paper presenter or otherwise.

For enquiries regarding the conference, please contact the ASLI Secretariat at asliconference@nus.edu.sg

Thank you and we look forward to seeing you in Taipei in May 2015.

Important Deadlines

Submission of Abstract

21 December 2014

Participants will be notified within a month from the deadline on the status of their submission

Deadline for Early Bird Registration and Payment

1 March 2015

Closing date for Registration and Payment

5 April 2015

Submission of Completed Paper

13 April 2015

Conference

21 & 22 May 2015, Thursday & Friday
