

TRANSNATIONAL LAW & BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

GOALS

1. Development of regional community for permanent peace and prosperity in East Asia

To achieve permanent peace and prosperity in East Asia and to contribute to the cooperation and development of international societies, the development of a regional community is an essential element. Unlike European countries, Asia has little experience with public interchange and cooperation between neighboring countries. Such lack of regional cooperation is hindering the East Asian countries from taking part in the global development process.

The joint training of young elite students from East Asia would therefore be the most efficient and fundamental step in promoting the development of a regional community. Future international experts will not only contribute to the development of their own countries but will also contribute to the development of a regional community in East Asia through mutual understanding and by maintaining close relation. TLBU Graduate School of Law in Seoul will therefore be of great importance in the joint training of future international experts.

2. Asian-European Cooperation and Global Cooperation

The TLBU System gives potential leaders a chance to study European Community Law and International Organizations in Europe. The TLBU Institute in Paris offers very efficient field studies for students in International Organizations and European Community Law. The field studies in Paris for international organizations will further promote to the students understanding of global cooperation. The comparative studies of European Community Law in cooperation with European Universities will substantially develop Asian-European Cooperation. Such overseas studies will certainly contribute to the building of global cooperation.

3. Strengthening Asian-American Cooperation

Strong and close ties between Asia and the United States undoubtedly will foster permanent peace and prosperity for the world. Historically, the Asian countries have been rather passive in establishing regional collaboration even with their neighboring countries, thus there is little ground for developing US-Asia cooperation. Educating Asian elites students on U.S. law, as well as offering them with opportunities to promote active cultural, academic and societal interchange with American elites students, would be a significant first step forwards strengthening ties with the United States. It will certainly contribute to the establishment of solid and close cooperation between the two regions.

TLBU students will embark upon in-depth studies of US law with other US law students of exceptional ability at the George Washington University Law School or the Georgetown University Law School, USA, so as to promote mutual cooperation and understanding between the US and Asian.

4. Formation of the High Quality Transnational Legal Experts

TLBU will provide effective and ideal training to the students by most highly qualified transnational legal experts, and will provide them with opportunities to study and practice various countries' legal systems, and to carry on productive field studies for international organization and European Community Law through the TLBU and its affiliated organizations' facilities that are located worldwide.

SYSTEM

1. Overview

Our aim is to educate and train potential leaders of the 21st century, from among the graduates of the top law schools in East Asian countries. TLBU will not just equip our students with knowledge on practical law but will also offer specialized programs with an emphasis on ethics & social responsibility. We trust that through educating of potential leaders and the provision of opportunities to meet and share thoughts with other potential leaders; will unquestionably contribute to the future establishment of a regional community in Asia. We are confident that global peace and prosperity can be achieved through such reinforcements of regional cooperation.

TLBU System is composed of the TLBU Graduate School in Seoul, TLBU Institute in Paris and the TLBU Law School in Maryland, USA. Many projects with an aim to expand TLBU System globally in the near future are being facilitated, most importantly the purchase of new hotels in Paris, France to financially support TLBU Graduate School and the opening of TLBU Global High School in New Jersey to reinforce TLBU presence in the USA. TLBU Graduate School in Seoul has operated since March 2001. About fifty (50) top qualified students representing the various countries of East Asia were admitted, and participated in the academic year 2001.

TLBU Institute in Paris offers practical field training to the students on European culture International Organizations and the European Community Law. TLBU Foundations in New York and New Jersey and Washington DC and their educational institutions will provide both financial and educational support to the selected students among the graduates of TLBU Graduate School of Law in Seoul.

2. Scholarship

All students in our masters and doctorates programs are excellent students who graduated from top-rated law schools from East Asian countries, which have been provided with full tuition fee scholarship. The scholarship includes tuition fees and foreign travel expenses for one-month field studies in Europe. In principle, however, students will have to pay USD 11,000 for accommodation fees (foods and dormitory) during two years studying in TLBU, afford airfares for visiting his/her home during recesses and airfares to TLBU for initial arrival and return to Vietnam.

3. Education of Social Responsibilities for Potential Leaders

It is our aim to educate the finest law students, however we do not limit our objective to just providing education on legal studies. However, opportunities for students to participate in various volunteer activities will also be available. The volunteer activity programs will include caring for children, disabled and seniors.

By doing so, our students will learn to recognize the importance of the social responsibility of a potential leader. It is our objective to provide our students with proper knowledge on law, as well as guiding our students to live as a role model for others to follow.

4. Curriculum

Graduate students are extraordinarily beneficial to attending curriculums designed for master's degree in law focusing on Public International Law, Private International Law, International Organizations, European Law, U.S Law, East Asian Law (Korea, Japan, and China) in addition to Legal Writing, English Communication, and French class. Students have chance to study with well-experienced overseas Korean professors graduating from U.S famous universities.

Case method which is applied to US law will be utilized as one of the approaches to the international legal system. The students have opportunities to apply the method in a number of subjects such as Contract law, Copyright law, U.S Law, etc. Besides, in some classes such as International Organization, Law of Treaty, etc. provides students with not only knowledge but also skills of presentation and confidence of public talking. Further, as law students under “civil law” system the method will bring a systematically new approach in considering and resolving legal issues in the countries under “common law”.

Under specific instructions from respective professors, graduate students periodically perform moot court – one of most interesting, favorite and meaningful studying activities – in which all graduate students has to do researching and preparing the legal materials, arguments as well as act as legal counsels to defend for both sides, either plaintiff or defendant. Working in group is firmly required to fulfill the assignments with success.

5. Extra-curriculum

Aside from pursuing the oriented academic programs, graduate students regularly participate in global culture and ethic class for further international cultural knowledge which is necessary and indispensable for a future leader as TLBU missions and goals. Taekwondo class is also provided optionally for students' interest with friendly and professional Korean teachers.

LIBRARY

With its small but requisite print reserve greatly complemented by online resources, such as the United Nations Treaty Collection, via fast Internet accesses, the TLBU Library has long been an efficient and desirable research resort of the whole TLBU community, particularly the faculty and the current graduate students.

Emphasizing Law and social science, the library collection currently consists of over 5,000 bound and microform volumes including many codified administrative rules and regulations, periodicals, and treaties. Extensive efforts are currently being undertaken to expand the library.

While TLBU is a university welcoming law students from the whole Asian, the Library is also proudly characterized as a potential and intensive legal resource of Asian countries and is taking advantage of the special contributions from the graduate students from different countries and Asian scholars.

CAMPUS LIFE

DORMITORY

TLBU students are provided places in dormitory of which two or three students shall share one room together. The dormitory is next to the Main Building where the library and classes are located so it is very convenient for students to walk to and fro regardless of the weather. Accommodation in dormitory is quite adequate. There is a phone to contact other rooms, a private bathroom with hot water which is always available, a bed with quilted blanket and soft mattress, a balcony overlooking beautiful sight, and an awoken music every morning. In dormitory, students can enjoy the cool in spring, summer and fall due to its location halfway up to the hill and the warmth in winter thanks to the heating system. Especially, different from other countries, Korea is a particular nation using the floor heating system which is quite convenience and comfortable, in the cold winter, for students who come from tropical countries.

CAFETERIA

As in the same building, cafeteria is downstairs. Students here are offered 3 meals per day by Arakor, a global company, which specializes in nutrition. Since the time in TLBU is almost spent for studying, eating together in cafeteria is a good opportunity for meeting and chatting and sharing culture as well.

Here, students also have chance to have meal with President. The served food is all the most typical Korean food with Kim chi included in every meal. Students also can prepare their own traditional foods by themselves in the kitchen which contains several basic equipment such as microwaves, refrigerators, cupboard, etc.

LIFE CONDITION

The life condition in TLBU is fairly comfortable. As TLBU is surrounded by the forest, and not in the crowded center of Seoul, the area is such an ideal place for studying and living. Moreover, TLBU has a romantic sight with its own features each season, which add more desirable to the life here. Health care is one of the most important concerned things. Thus students are strongly encouraged and suggested to maintain a regular life in order to keep them healthy and stronger such as doing exercises, sleep habitually. Infirmary is always available for health checking at any time and provides medicine or first aid. If there is any problem relating to sickness, the school staffs are ready to help and pick patient to the hospital, as the case maybe.

All the TLBU students live as a family. Most of us have good family background and especially their virtue and character are honorable and respectable. For new students, they will be guided and taken care by seniors from the beginning with living adaptation, studying, etc. Living at TLBU, students will find that it is a friendly and beloved family with many close and intimate brothers and sisters coming from different countries. Life in TLBU is very fantastic.

ACTIVITIES

Sports are one of the most favorable of TLBU students. The school encourages students to take part in several these outdoor and indoor activities. There will be some sport competitions for them to show their talent and enjoy the fun.

Badminton competition in the winter 2012

Staying at TLBU, students are not only provided with legal knowledge but also the possibilities to find out culture of Korea as well as their friends' countries through numerous parties and events. For instance, in a welcoming party, students from different countries will prepare and share with others their traditional performances, in Choseok party students can share their countries' custom of greeting mid-autumn festival, or in a food festival they get a good opportunities to introduce their traditional food.

A performance in welcoming party

In TLBU, students shall have unforgettable birthday parties with Presidents and all friends. The school shall hold a birthday parties for each student that make them feel warm and to be at home. In addition to the official parties, there is usually a small noodle party among students to cheer up and celebrate the birthday.

FIELD STUDY

Growing up with the strong missions and future leadership, TLBU provides the great opportunity to all graduate students several field studies in order to promote, besides the academic programs in Graduate School of Law in Seoul, the global understanding and experiences.

KOREA

“Live to experience, to observe”, TLBU Graduate School of Law brings all first year students to participate in Field Studies in Korea which is a special annual program. Students have chance to visit Korea's largest steel maker POSCO in Pohang City. With the slogan "Resources are limited, creativity is unlimited" and the fabulous video presented itself, POSCO lets visitors have a better understanding of its history and development.

EUROPE

TLBU Graduate School of Law in Seoul possesses the global system, which offers to young elite students from the best law school in East Asia the opportunity of various field studies, one of which is the Field Study in Europe. During this precious time, TLBU Graduate Students will get knowledgeable about various aspects of the Western society's culture and history through visiting and studying in many places in France, Switzerland, Belgium, Netherlands and have chances to observe by themselves how the organizations operated through visiting EU Commission, World Trade Organization (WTO), World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), International Labor Organization (ILO), and International Court of Justice (ICJ) and attending instructive lectures on specific issues given by experts from respective organizations. By studying European model, the students got encouragement and inspiration to develop their individual countries and strengthen cooperation in East-Asia.

INTERNSHIP AT INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

TLBU Graduate School of Law in Seoul aims at providing joint training of young elite students from East Asia in order to promote the development of an East-Asian regional community. Internship experiences at key international organizations are highly granted by TLBU as one important step for students' individual successes as future leaders. TLBU Internship Programs includes those of ITLOS (the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea) and ILO (International Labor Organization), UNIDROIT (International Institution for the unification of Private Law) and hopefully it will soon extend to other international organizations, including ICC (International Criminal Court) and WIPO (World Intellectual Property Organization). TLBU sends its qualified graduates to above organizations on yearly basis.

Since TLBU President Dr. LYOU Byung Hwa has served as Member of Governing Council of UNIDROIT since 1993, he offers recommendation and other helps to facilitate TLBU students in their applications to those international organizations. In the year 2010, two TLBU graduates, received offers from UNIDROIT for two-months internship at its headquarter in Rome, Italy. TLBU facilitated their application for the internship opportunities and helped them get scholarship funded by the Korean government which covers their accommodation and living expenses in Rome.
